Walid Mumuni Basketball

Club: Reading Rockets
Essex Pirates

D.O.B: 13.04.83

Walid studied AS/A2 Level PE alongside Leisure and Recreational AVCE in 1999. In 2000 he went to France to take part in The Nike Junior World Tournament playing alongside NBA Chicago Bulls player Luol Deng. He then played for England U20's in 2001, gaining 5 caps.

After college he went to Kingston University to study a Sport Science degree and was part of the Talented Athletes Scholarship scheme. Whilst at Kingston he played in the England University Squad (03-06) and with the England Senior Development squad for selection into 2006 commonwealth games team. After university he went to Italy and played professional Basketball for A.S Lanciano Basket. He then moved to Reading Rockets, where he won player of the month in January 2009. In the 2008/09 season Reading won all four of the EBL Competitions including the EBL Division 1 League title (their first ever league championship) and ended the season unbeaten. They were the first team ever to win all four of the EBL trophies. Walid now plays for the Essex Pirates.
